整篇润色

At recess the next day, I saw Del sitting alone watching the kickball game. His head hung low and his fingers twisted together. The light in his eyes had faded, making me ashamed and regretful for starting the rumor. I took a deep breath, clenched my fists tightly, walked straight to Del, and told him everything about the nickname he'd given me and the rumor I'd spread. He was confused and a bit furious at first, but then all his anger melted into grief and sadness. He said he was sorry for his past actions, forgave me, and just hoped his mom would get better soon. Looking into his eyes, I saw a different Del.

Now that Del had forgiven me, I decided to do more before recess ended. I ran to the playground, waved my arms, and shouted at the top of my voice: "Everyone, I have something to say!" When everyone gathered around, I revealed the truth. Astonishment and regret crossed their faces. As Del received everyone's sincere apologies and best wishes, he couldn't help trembling. I saw sparkling tears in his eyes, reflecting a pure light. It was only when a harmonious atmosphere filled the air that I realized we should all hold onto love and compassion for others to make the world a better place.

范文

At recess the next day, I saw Del sitting alone watching the kickball game. His usual confident demeanor was gone, replaced by a quiet sadness that tugged at my heart. I hesitated for a moment, then walked over and sat beside him. "Hey," I said, trying to sound casual. Del glanced at me, surprised. "Why are you talking to me? Don’ t you think I’ m a bully?" he asked, his voice tinged with bitterness. I shook my head. "I know the truth now," I admitted. "About your brother and your mom. I’ m really sorry for what I said." Del sighed, looking down at his hands. "It’ s fine," he muttered, but I could tell it wasn’ t.

Now that Del had forgiven me, I decided to do more before the recess was over. I stood up and called out to the kids playing kickball. "Hey, let Del join the game!" A few of them frowned, but others hesitated, glancing at Del. "Come on," I urged. "He’ s always played with us before." Slowly, one of the players nodded. "Alright, Del, you’ re on our team." Del’ s face lit up with a small smile as he stood and joined the game. By the end of recess, the tension had eased, and Del was laughing with the others. As we walked back to class, he turned to me. "Thanks, Jamie," he said, using my real name for the first time. I smiled, feeling a warmth spread through me. Maybe Del wasn’ t so bad after all.
